

Lucca, 3 June 2019 - MAIOR celebrates 30 years of activity in the design and development of advanced software solutions for the transportation industry.

Founded in 1989 by a group of professors of operational research at the University of Pisa, MAIOR is today a leading company in the public transportation sector in Italy, with customers in North America, Europe and Asia.

From the beginning, MAIOR has developed customized optimization solutions to respond to the changing and demanding requirements of the world of public transportation. The company's software solutions are based on the expertise of its personnel and on the commitment to research and innovative projects.

The last few years confirm a steady growth for the company. "We are very proud to have been on the market for over 30 years, and today, more than ever, we are determined to continue to rethink public transportation. Our team's leadership and passion have played the main role in this incredible growth." - Leopoldo Girardi, Chief Executive Officer.

MAIOR, like the entire Clever Devices Group, is already working on the future of public transportation to face the new challenges of transit scheduling with electric and autonomous vehicles, the development of innovative solutions based on artificial intelligence and machine learning, and the need to develop the attractiveness of local public transportation. "We are encouraged to continue driving the future of mobility with advantageous and innovative solutions: the new dynamic planning features will allow our customers to better manage the service in real-time, as in the case of delays and service disruptions." - Duccio Grandi, Chief Technology Officer.

The development of MAIOR was based on strong and long-lasting relationships with mostly Italian partners and customers, and on establishing new business relationships in the world, such as in the case of RTD from Denver, United States.

MAIOR (www.maior.it) is a global market leader in designing and developing software solutions for strategic service planning, resource scheduling and management, and company performance analysis in the public transportation industry. The company is based in Lucca and Florence, in Italy. MAIOR's solutions help its customers reduce operational costs and both optimize and improve their offered transit services continuously.
